A BIG BATTLE YESTERDAY.

THE FORCES SUFFERED TERRIBLY.

One Report Says 1,200 Men Were Lost. Losses Chiefly Russians and Japanese. Enemy Retreated—Situation Becoming More Serious in the Upper Yangtse-Kiang.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Washington, August 6.—Admiral and Commander Taussig cabled Remy today that the advancing forces reached Peit-Sang Sunday morning and there engaged a large body of Chinese.

The allies suffered heavy losses, but the enemy retreated. The losses were chiefly among the Russians and Japanese.

No mention is made of the part the Americans took in the battle.

A London dispatch says that the loss of the allies is reported at 1,200.

TUAN MURDERS AN ENEMY.

London, August 6.—A dispatch from a news agency at Shanghai, dated today says that it is reported that the powerful viceroy, Yuan Shi Kai, the governor of Shantung, who disapproved Prince Tuan, has been killed.

LI AT WORK.

New York, August 6.—The World has the following: "Shanghai, August 5.—An Imperial decree has just been issued which authorizes the escort of the diplomatic corps to a place of safety and renders action of the allied forces unnecessary. It is the first step toward the solution of the situation as proposed by Li Hung Chang.

DARK IN THE YANGTSE VALLEY.

Paris, August 9.—The consul at Chung-King telegraphs under date of August 3 that the situation is becoming more serious in the upper Yangtse-Kiang valley. He says the English consul has left with the custom house staff and the French consul intends leaving his Japanese colleagues. The mail services have been stopped.

PROVISIONS CUT OFF.

London, August 6.—A dispatch from Shanghai of yesterday's date says the Japanese consul has received a message from Pekin which says that Gen. Tung Pu Chung has stopped sending provisions to the legations and also says that a large number of troops are massing at Paoying Fu.

DISORDER IN BUSINESS.

Hong-Kong, Aug. 6.—The situation at Canton is very disquieting and business there is almost entirely suspended. Some native banks are defaulted. Other banks are closed. Many Canton merchants have taken refuge here.

ANTI FOREIGN PARTY ON TOP.

London, August 6.—The anti-foreign party appears to have the upper hand in Pekin. According to reports emerging from Li Hung Chang's lodgings his baggage is packed preparatory to his departure for Pekin. Nevertheless he has applied to the throne for twenty days' sick leave. Li Hung Chang says his representation to the Yang Tse viceroys and anti Sheng will be denounced by Li Ping Heng on the ground that they are friendly to the foreigners.

REFUGEES FROM CHINA.

San Francisco, Aug. 6.—The transport Logan has arrived after thirty-nine days from Nagasaki. It is understood to have on board a number of missionary refugees from China, but no one can be landed until after quarantine inspection.

THE FIRST IN NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 6.—United States transport Rawlins, with a detachment of the First U. S. Infantry, bound for China, arrived this morning. The troops number 10 officers and 300 men.

Shot Himself for Falling Asleep.

By Wire to the Telegram.

New York, Aug. 6.—An accident to machinery and a consequent suicide were incidents of the last trip of the steamer Deutschland. The fourth officer, Thiele, blew out his brains in the cabin because he fell asleep on the bridge.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the South-side Hose Company tomorrow night at the hose house. Let all the members attend.

WILL GUTHRIE, Sec.

QUEEN VICTORIA NEXT.

For Expressing This Sentiment An Anarchist is Whipped by British Clerks.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 6.—Guiseppa Cecigni, the brother-in-law of Bresci, upon hearing of Bresci's deed, exclaimed "It will be Queen Victoria next." His threats against the Queen so enraged several British shipping clerks that they horse-whipped him.

MORE "MEASURES" IN VIEW.

Milan, Aug. 6.—A Russian named Jarlinski was arrested here today, and in his pocket were found letters marked "Anarchist section U. 33," stating that at the end of July "measures will be taken to suppress several crowned heads."

NEW JAIL NEARLY COMPLETED.

The Structure Very Secure—Prisoners Will Probably be Transferred This Week.

The new jail is nearing completion, and if nothing happens the prisoners will be transferred from the old eyecore on North Elm to the new structure in a few days. At any rate, it will be ready by the next term of court.

A visit through the new jail will convince one that it is all that the name implies. It is so constructed that escape would seem almost impossible. The prisoners will be confined in steel cells, of which there are sixteen. Each cell will accommodate four prisoners. A combination lock in the corridor enables the turnkey to lock all the cells without going inside.

The front of the building is reserved for the jailer's residence and is separated from the prisoners' apartments by a solid brick wall.

A Job Wanted.

Charlotte News.

Wanted—By a Statesman who will be out of a job, position as party czar, or leader. Has dealt with the Democratic, Republican and Populist parties, and is the inventor of a party arrangement called fusion by which elections may be carried without the aid of principles or platforms. Has had unlimited experience and is prepared to work for any party that will give him a fair to medium place. Has studied law three months, and can tell whether a measure is constitutional at sight. Reason for change, signator desires change of air and scene. The North Carolina climate doesn't suit him. Address Marion Butler, care Yarbrough House, Raleigh, N. C.

As to Aged Voters.

The News claims for Charlotte the distinction of having the oldest voter in the State. He is Mr. Jerry M. Mills, who is 94 years old and who has voted the straight Democratic ticket for 73 years. Guilford has a citizen who is just as strong a Democrat and almost as old a man in the person of Mr. R. C. Stewart, of Jefferson township. Then there is Mr. David Wharton, residing a few miles north of Greensboro, who is two years older than Charlotte's aged Democrat. Mr. Wharton, too, is a Democrat of Democrats.

To Seek a More Congenial Climate.

The Telegram is told that three, and probably more, of the disappointed fusionists in North Carolina will move to other States. They are Marion Butler, Claudius Dockery and H. F. Seawell, the latter being the defeated candidate for lieutenant-governor. It is said that each of these has announced his intention of seeking a more congenial climate, and there will probably be others.

Another Factory for High Point.

Another manufacturing concern has been organized in High Point. It is the High Point Excelsior and Trunk Manufacturing Company and has just been chartered by the Secretary of State. The incorporators are: J. R. Brown, A. R. Hamner, Alfred Payne, George A. Matton, J. R. Reitzel, C. C. Muse, D. H. Hall, A. L. Barnes and W. P. Ragan.

Mr. W. S. Weatherspoon has moved from No. 728 Pearson street to No. 444 Garrell street, having bought the latter place from Mr. A. A. Johnson. The house formerly occupied by him on Pearson street has been rented by Mr. Charles D. Thornton, who moved in today.

PREMIUM LIST FOR THE FAIR.

SOME OF THE PRIZES OFFERED.

Others Will be Added to the List—Business Men of Greensboro Contributing Liberally to the Success of the Fair—Interest is Being Manifested by Outside Parties.

The officers of the Central Carolina Fair Association are busy making up their premium list, which they hope to issue within the next few days. Already numerous requests for premium lists have been received.

The business men of the city are responding liberally to the request to donate premiums. The following are the premiums so far offered, and by whom donated:

MR. MCKELWAY CORRECTED.

Mr. Scales Notes a Few Inaccuracies in the Former's Article.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

In the Charlotte Observer of yesterday there is an article by Mr. McKelway which has a few manifest inaccuracies, doubtless due to the use of the telephone. Mr. McKelway requested me, over the long-distance 'phone, to give him some of the facts in regard to the defeat of the dispensary, and of course the mistakes in the article are purely accidental. Ordinarily they would not require correction, as they are manifest to those acquainted with the facts and are not very important, but as suspicion is abroad in the land, you will please allow me space to correct them.

First: Of course it should have been 80 per cent. of the profit that goes to the town.

Second: What I said was that the Republicans voted almost solidly against the dispensary. That the white vote of the county was 6,006, and that the white Republicans numbered about 1,700 or 1,800. Upon looking at the result of the election it will be seen that more than 1,700 white men voted the Republican ticket.

Third: When asked what the majority against the dispensary was, I said it was more than 1,000. I learn this morning it was something over 1,300.

Very respectfully,
A. M. SCALES.

August 6th.

TROUBLE IN RANDOLPH.

Warm Contest Over the Result of the Election.

The election is causing considerable excitement down in Randolph. The result is very close and both sides claim the victory. The Democrats allege irregularities in two precincts and are attempting to have the vote in these precincts thrown out. If this is done it will elect the entire Democratic ticket. This action is being bitterly fought by the Republicans.

The matter came up before the Board of Canvassers Saturday, but an adjournment was taken until today. Hon. Charles M. Stedman and Col. John A. Barringer, of this city, and Maj. John W. Graham, of Hillsboro, went to Asheboro this morning to appear for the Republicans. Hon. F. M. Simmons, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, is also there.

A NEW GRADED SCHOOL.

Guilford College Takes Another Step in Educational Advancement.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Guilford College, Aug. 4.—At a meeting of the citizens of Guilford College and vicinity, held here this afternoon, it was decided to establish a graded school at this place.

The district school committee and the New Garden Monthly Meeting School committee decided to unite the buildings and funds of the district and Monthly meeting School and erect a large building for a graded school. The new building will be located on the Monthly Meeting grounds, in front of Prof. Wooly's residence.

Work on the building will commence at once. This is quite a stride forward in the educational line in old Guilford.

Among the Hustlers.

Caldebaugh & Bro. have the largest stock of china and glassware in the State. See ad.

"Sense or cents" is the title of a very interesting article in Harry-Belk Bros. space on page five of this issue. The store of J. M. Hendrix & Co. will be closed, during inventory, a part of this week.

Lima beans for tomorrow morning at Henry Hunter's.

The meeting of the session of the First Presbyterian church is postponed from tonight until tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the pastor's study.

GUILFORD COUNTY INSTITUTE.

WHITE TEACHERS COME TOGETHER.

Conducted by Dr. Whitsett, Assisted by Other Teachers—Sessions Will be Held Daily—Plan of Work Outlined—A Number of Teachers in Attendance—Friday Will be an Educational Rally Day.

The county institute for white teachers of Guilford met in the court house this morning. The institute is conducted by Dr. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute. The attendance is about fifty teachers and quite a number of visitors. Many teachers have arrived since the opening session and will be in attendance the remainder of the week. The sessions will last daily from 8:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Prof. Whitsett opened the work by sketching rapidly the educational conditions in North Carolina and the South. North Carolina has 600,000 children of school age; 400,000 are in public schools; 40,000 in private schools; and 4,000 in colleges; 200,000 are not in school. Guilford county has about 13,000 school children. The teachers of Guilford are a part of the army of 8,000 public school teachers leading the 400,000 children of North Carolina into intellectual freedom.

The progress of the idea of universal education was traced. The greatest discovery of the century is not in wood, brass, or stone, it is the discovery of the child in his relation to the State. Twenty years ago the South spent $13,000,000 for education; today $29,000,000, but we have increased our school term only 13 days in this time. We must have a class of greater teachers. The teacher must have native fitness: First, tact; Second, sense; third, sympathy; fourth, conscience; fifth, honesty; sixth, courage. To this he must add acquired fitness: First, scholarship; second, pedagogy; third, psychology; fourth, growth by experience. The true teacher sees above and beyond all else the leading of youth into noble manhood and womanhood as the great end of all school work. He must attain to the nobility of doing common things in an uncommon way. Great teachers were recalled as examples, Comenius, Pestolozzi, Horace Mann, Page, Loonis, Agassiz, etc. The spirit and personality of the true teacher must dominate his entire work.

Prof. R. T. Wyche next showed how literature could be made if infinite help in teaching spelling, reading, composition, grammar, history, etc. He illustrated his points by telling the story of Longfellow's Hiawatha, in part, and making applications. He made a plea for more literature in our schools.

The recitation, its aims, methods, etc., was next discussed by Prof. Whitsett. He touched upon a number of methods of conducting recitations, among them, (1) the question, (2) topical; third, discussion; fourth, lecture; fifth, combined, etc. Many helpful hints were given.

Prof. J. R. Wharton, County Supervisor, is the secretary of the institute. Several visiting teachers are present from adjoining counties, Randolph, Alamance, etc.

The court house with an organ, charts, maps, black-boards, etc., looks quite like a school room. Visitors interested in education will be welcomed at all sessions of the institute. Friday will be a general educational rally day, and addresses will be delivered by State Superintendent Mebane and others. A number of prominent educators will be present and address the teachers from time to time during the sessions of the Institute. All indications point to a most successful week's work. An interesting programme of work was outlined for tomorrow.

Mr. Byrd's Mind Affected.

Mr. J. A. Byrd, who was injured on the head by a falling hook and ladder truck more than a year ago, is in a pitiable condition. He has been in bad shape ever since the accident, being unable to work, and of late his mind has been affected. At times he is violently insane and imagines that some one is trying to kill him. He has been in a critical condition for the past day or two and requires constant watching. His case is indeed sad.

Attend the orphan's concert in the court house tomorrow night.

TO PROSECUTE THE MEDDLERS.

SIMMONS NOW ON THE WAR PATH.

Has Begun the Work of Collecting Affidavits Against the Federal Office Holders. End of the So-Called Riot in Bayboro. Who Will be Senator?—The Prohibitionists Lost in the Shuffle—Warrants Against Democrats.

Special Correspondence of the Telegram
Raleigh, Aug. 6.—There was one State ticket this year of which no one even heard mention. This was the prohibition ticket.

There is beginning to be talk about the national campaign and also of who will succeed Marion Butler as Senator. There are several names mentioned, among them F. M. Simmons, Julian S. Carr, A. M. Waddill, and M. H. Justice, and there are of course other aspirants. This year, for the first time, the people will really choose their Senator as they will make the selection on election day in November, when a senatorial primary is to be held.

There is a very interesting question in regard to the matter of which county this year won the honor of being the banner Democratic county in the State. Roberson rather claims it because it gave Aycock, for governor, 4,100 majority, more than any other county gave him, while Mecklenburg bases its claim upon its having given the constitutional amendment 3,553, which leads the State. Mecklenburg will say that the amendment was the supreme issue and that therefore the majority for it is what counts.

The assertion is made by a Republican that the United States marshal of this district has a great number of warrants against Democrats which are soon to be served, upon affidavits concerning last Thursday's election. The statement should be taken with some allowance. If the administration allows any more of this warrant business in connection with the State election to be done it will be quite a surprise.

The Pamlico trouble at Bayboro ended peacefully, after all, and no one was injured by the mob, which had the election board cooped up in the court house. The political status in Pamlico is bad. Some of the best men in the county, angry about a law suit, formed a faction and allied themselves with the fusionists against the regular Democrats. As a result there is great bitterness, and there came near being a collision. It is now asserted that the affair at Bayboro was perhaps exaggerated in the reports sent here, and that troops were not necessary to stop the trouble. The troops could have left New Bern at 11 o'clock Saturday night and marched to Bayboro in five hours, but instead they left at 3 a. m. on a slow steamer, distance by water 60 miles. Not long after midnight the faction which was besieging the court house went home, and the affair ended. Now it goes into the courts.

It seems that no Fusion tickets were even sent to New Hanover county. Only two votes against the franchise amendment were cast in the county.

Democratic State Chairman Simmons sends the following letter to county chairmen:

"I saw clearly I would not have time to present our case against the Federal office-holders before the election, and decided not to press that matter until after the election; besides, I knew you and other chairmen would be busy before election with other matters. The election is now over and won, and I wish to take up the matter of meddlesome interference of Federal office-holders. We had as well settle this question once for all, and know whether the people are to manage their local affairs, or whether Federal office-holders are to manage them. We want to know before the national campaign opens the status with reference to our local affairs of these office-holders—how far the administration proposes to let them go. The civil service commission has notified me it will consider any affidavits I may file. I, therefore, ask and urge that you send me as early as possible any information in the shape of personal statements or affidavits that you may be able to secure in your county, showing meddlesome interference of Federal office-holders in the politics of your county. I ask you to give this matter your immediate attention, and let me have the affidavits as soon as possible."

Senator Butler says in a leading editorial in his paper today:

"Returns received by us decide that the amendment and Democratic State ticket have been carried by a good majority. We do not admit and do not believe that a majority of the people of the State favored the amendment or wanted to vote the Democratic ticket."

A Dispensary for Charlotte.

The Charlotte Observer.

The dispensary for Charlotte is again the issue. There was talk of it before the primaries; it was not entirely forgotten in the election; and since the election the advocates of the measure state that the representatives of this county will be asked to support the measure and that another petition will be gotten up in this county, requesting the Legislature to pass an act establishing a dispensary in this city.

In No Danger.

"Well, sir," said the observant passenger after watching the conductor collect eight fares and ring up five, "you need never be afraid of being struck by lightning."

"Why not?" asked the trusted employee.

"Because," said the observant passenger, "it is evident you are not a good conductor."

The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their own merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. Howard Gardner. Aug.

when we look back on the science of glass fitting and the conditions which but a few years since governed the wearing of glasses and then view the conditions that exist today we can but wonder. The young man who wore glasses of any sort then pronounced a "dude" or an imbecile. Today the eyes of the biggest, busiest, most substantial men in business and the professions look upon the world through glass.

HOW TOWNE TOOK IT.

Consolation to the Pop Heart Bowed Down While Democrats Shouted for Adlai.

How Mr. Charles Towne, Populist candidate for Vice-President on the ticket with Bryan, took his defeat in Kansas City has not been told, for the reason that only Mr. Towne and a telegraph operator and one other were in the room at the time. It was at the Coates House. The roll was being called on candidates for Vice-President in the Convention Hall. The telegraph operator in the room at the Coates House was alone, taking the vote for his own amusement. Another man was in the room reading. Mr. Towne walked into the room with his thumbs in the broad sash around his waist and asked if there was any news. The operator chanced to know Mr. Towne by sight and told him to sit down and he would keep him informed. As each State was called the operator repeated the result to Mr. Towne. In several of the Southern States, Mr. Towne informed the operator, he would get so many votes. But at the expiration of the next click of the instrument the operator had to inform Mr. Towne that the State just called had voted for Stevenson or whoever it was.

When Wisconsin was called Mr. Towne was confident that he had a good showing. But as he heard the news from the operator the paper on which Mr. Towne had been keeping tab trembled like a leaf in the wind.

Finally the operator said rather mechanically, "It's Stevenson." Mr. Towne looked through his big spectacles out of the window, and for a moment his face was a study.

An operator is not usually an impressionable individual. The nature of his work is against it. But in this case the operator turned to Mr. Towne and said, as though he meant it, "I am sorry."

Mr. Towne got up from his chair and thanked the operator, but his lips quivered and his cheeks were white.

"I might have known it," he said, and then he hurried into the corridor, where his friends gathered about him and vented their eternal wrath on everything that had a Democratic mark.

But Mr. Towne, like Bryan, is a good actor. He was a different man in the corridor from the one who had sat by the telegraph operator. He put on a bold front and the burden of his talk was, "For God's sake, keep quiet until I decide, or you will ruin my political life."

Just then he was pulled into a private room by a friend, who told him Mr. Bryan wanted to talk to him over the long-distance telephone.

What that talk was only Bryan and Towne know. It was had before the shouts over Stevenson's nomination in the Democratic Convention had died out. It was had before Bryan wrote his congratulatory message to Stevenson.

A Notable Week.

Charlotte Observer.

The week just closed was a notable one in North Carolina. Thursday's event was a peaceful revolution, transferring political power from one party to another by a majority far greater than was ever given in any political contest in the State. The day marked an epoch. A large number of black voters who had been illegally disfranchised were legally enfranchised, and by the same election a large number of white men, who have all their votes with a vote without free. We are at the beginning of a new era. It will be a long time from dawn to sunrise, but the sun of a new liberty is certain to appear. Ignorance and race prejudice are to disappear, and in their stead we are to have enlightenment, charity and breadth of mental vision. If the half of these hopes are ever fulfilled as the result of last Thursday's election, who will be heard to say that the 2d of August, 1900, was not the greatest day that North Carolina ever saw?

Fish Fell From the Sky.

Galveston News.

Jond S. Fogg, a cattleman and farmer, bought a dozen small fish to the city the other day and told in an interesting manner of finding them floating about on the hot, dry prairie at noon, having apparently fallen from the sky. A black cloud appeared hiding the sun, and several bright fishes of lightning came from the cloud, after which the fish were seen gathering and lively, evidently much disconcerted by their surroundings. They are small specimens of the perch family, and Mr. Fogg's idea that they fell from the cloud is fully believed by men of experience. Mr. H. Ambold says it is not uncommon thing for a fish to fall out of a passing cloud.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

It is announced positively that Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota, the Populist nominee for Vice-President, will within two weeks withdraw from the ticket, and it is now certain the name of Adlai E. Stevenson will be substituted for Towne's by the Populist National Committee.

A prohibition paper published in Danville, Va., "understands that a movement is to be set on foot by which to change the organic law of the State touching the liquor traffic from licenses and local option to prohibition and local option." It concludes that "a movement of this sort would necessarily precipitate political warfare between the church and the saloons, which would bring a great pressure to bear on the politicians of the State," but adds that "the church can easily win in this pitched battle if it will but remain steadfast and unmovable."

Mrs. Mary Green, seventy-four years of age, made a speech at New Rochelle, N. Y., last week at the raising of the Democratic banner, and so pleased the Democrats that the Bryan Campaign Committee has induced her to make a stumping tour through the State.

Mrs. C. D. Harmon, of Emporia, Kan., is said to be the possessor of a lock of Abraham Lincoln's hair, which was cut from his head just before he died.

General MacArthur has convened a board to select an island in the Philippine archipelago for lepers.

The Seaboard Air Line has placed a contract for 2,000 freight cars to be built within the next six months.

Dissensions among the Democrats is said to have lost Surry county to that party in Thursday's election.

Result of North Carolina's Election.

Philadelphia Record.

A minor but important result of the North Carolina election is in dissolving the Republican-Populist alliance by depriving it of its element of ignorant negro voters, led by unscrupulous white demagogues. The place of Marion Butler, the Populist, in the United States Senate will be filled next winter by a Democrat, and the turn of his Republican colleague, Senator Pritchard, will come two years hence. By insidious appeals to the ignorant whites and blacks this Free Silver-High Tariff coalition achieved its brief success over the better elements of the Old North State. While Pritchard worked one end of the combination with the Republicans, Butler worked the other end as chairman of the Populist National Committee. Who will say that the good people of North Carolina have not done well in destroying this nefarious coalition and in protecting their political institutions from a dense mass of ignorance.

The Tow Sack as a Summer Garment.

Charlotte Observer.

No individual in the country is attracting quite so much attention from the press just now as the shirt-waist man. This gentleman goes about the streets and other public places in this hot weather, without a coat, dressed in a negligee shirt—and, of course, other things—with low-cut collar and white galluses. It is noted with regret that in some communities he is not received by the ladies with favor. While his apparel may be regarded as an incivility to them, they should remember that he is entitled to some consideration on the ground that in winter they appropriate his stiff-starched white front and standing collar. The summer costume for a gentleman is now extending to the heels with a draw-trunk at the neck, a broad-brimmed straw hat, no socks or shoes or anything else; but since the ladies kick on the shirt-waist there is no use to talk about the long tailed tow shirt and we do not want to be remembered as having ever mentioned it.

Pay of Engineers Restored.

Washington, Aug. 4.—General Manager F. S. Gatton, of the Southern Railway Company, has issued an order restoring the pay of locomotive engineers employed by the company to the rate which prevailed before their wages were cut 10 percent. about seven years ago.

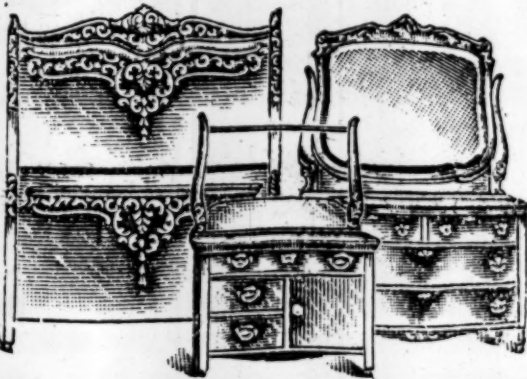

The order was the result of an appeal made to Mr. Gatton by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for restoration of pay to what it was in 1893.

Our "Wrenmaker" and "Dewey" Vic Kid Men's shoes, made by the Cbas. Heiser Shoe Co., are up-to-date, fit well, look nice and are just what you want for this warm weather.

MONDAY AUGUST 6, 1900.

TIME FOR AN ULTIMATUM.

The ultimatum has become a well recognized and often effective weapon when the more gentle means of diplomacy have failed. It is time for the powers, or at least some of them, if all will not act in concert, to issue a final edict to all individuals high in authority in China.

It is now known that the Americans and Europeans are alive, or were a few days ago, in Peking. The American, British and Japanese troops have begun the march to Peking for the purpose of rescuing them. What the Russian, French and German troops are doing does not seem to be sufficiently clear, further than that they are not moving. The great danger in the movement appears to be that the legations, weakened, short of provisions and almost without ammunition, will be massacred by the maddening rush occasioned by the exasperation the Chinese will feel to see their sacred capital about to fall into the hands of the hated enemy. The fall of Peking would be a great humiliation to the Chinese, and that is, no doubt, why the officials have been sparing so hard in the attempt to prevent the allies taking it. They have said that the ministers would be delivered safe if the march could be foreseen. But this very humiliation of the capital is the only thing that can make much impression on the stolid minds of the Chinese people.

It is generally conceded that some kind of punishment should be meted out for the outrages perpetrated upon our people and the unheard of treatment of the sacred persons of ambassadors. What will that punishment be? No one thinks that it will be the indiscriminate blood and thunder course of murder proposed to his troops by the cracked brained German Emperor. That would place upon us more the taint of savagery than the Chinese now bear. The punishment should be the destruction of at least a large part of Peking, the execution of all officials implicated either by connivance or chosen inaction, followed also by the execution of the leader of the rioters wherever disturbances have occurred. It would be unchristian to visit great punishment upon the ignorant Boxers, stimulated by designing leaders and acting at their instigation.

But what of the ultimatum? The imperial government ought to be informed in the first place that the forces are going straight to Peking and capture it. This ought to be done so emphatically that no more quibbling will be attempted. And further, that, having taken Peking, such measures will be carried out as shall then be decided upon. And lastly, that if ample protection is not furnished our ministers and they safely delivered to us, the head of every high official in China, including the royal family, Prince Tuan, Li Hung Chang, and all the high officers of the imperial army, will be required. Only such an ultimatum will bring the Chinese government to its senses. This will do it. Their own heads are worth much more to them than millions of their subjects. When this ultimatum is delivered we will see the Boxers vanish and peace restored.

A prominent citizen says, "The election reports of the News were the best I have ever seen in an afternoon newspaper in this State, and they were better handled than the morning papers." The News thanks its friends for their kind words, and is glad to know that they recognize and commend enterprise. Such things are not done without considerable expense.—Charlotte News.

Some of the afternoon papers of the State may well feel proud of their work in giving the election news, one of which some is The Telegram. While the service of the afternoon papers which like The News and The Telegram, made any real effort to get the news, was not "better handled" than that of the morning papers, it presented advantages, the principal one being that it practically told the story on the afternoon of its occurrence, at least twelve hours before the morning papers went out. Then, too, some of us, like the Asheville Citizen and The Telegram, issued morning editions giving very nearly as good reports as the morning papers, but of course in such a contest as this we were unable to attempt, even, to compete with the morning papers. The Telegram gave the result in seventy counties. A newspaper's business is to give the news while it is going and while the people want it, not after it is two or three days old and has been sufficiently ventilated by grapevine telegraph.

Having had some opportunity for observation, we are glad, indeed, to be able to say that the Guilford Collegian, the publication of the three societies of Guilford College, is one of the best college magazines of the State, and a doubt of a much larger field for North Carolina publications of this kind rank a long the list of the South. The magazine should be well patronized by subscribers and advertisers. While it is a little late to do so, we herewith give the table of contents of the commencement number: Eclipse of the Sun, fragment; Poem, by Lucile Armfield; The Year's Work, by Pres. L. L. Hobbs; The Carleton-Guilford Eclipse Expedition to the Lindley Farm, Near Pinhook, by Geo. W. White; The Mocking Bird, by T. Gilbert Pearson; America's Debt to the Dutch, by Annie King Blair; A Letter from Abram Fisher; Sketches, Forter Ave. Atque Vale—And I Alone Am Left; Editorials, The University Summer School—College Songs—For Pure Athletics—Base Ball; Oratorical Contest; Commencement Notes; Locals and Personals.

We commend the action of the British clerks who horsewhipped an anarchist who declared that Queen Victoria would be the next mark of the assassin's bullet. Horsewhipping is better than hanging for these fellows. They are willing to die for the sake of the eclat that comes from posing on the gallows, but horsewhipping is quite different. There is no eclat in getting a cowhiding.

Our contemporary, the Oxford Ledger, this week has on its front page ten campaign birds in various states of exultation.

The two fellows who cast their votes against the amendment in New Hanover ought to withdraw and make it unanimous.

Now what about the boys and girls?

ASYMPOSIUM ON WHITE SUPREMACY.

Chatham Record.

Certainly the "color line" will be less rigidly drawn in politics, because there will no longer be so great danger as heretofore from negro domination.

Charlotte Observer.

"Certainly the 'color line' will be less rigidly drawn" hereafter. It is to be hoped that we have heard the last of "white supremacy" and "negro domination." If these painful cries are to be continued the pledges of the Democrats will have been violated and the amendment will have been adopted in vain.

News and Observer.

The man who votes for McKinley in November votes for negro collectors of customs, negro postmasters and negro revenue officers right here in North Carolina.

Is it any better to vote for negro postmasters than for negro magistrates? John Dancy as collector of customs in North Carolina's principal city is no worse than George White as Congressman in the Second District of North Carolina.

Butler and his gang have been repudiated.

The same fate awaits any man or set of men who lead the fight for McKinley in November.

There is no difference; one puts negroes in office in the towns of the State as well as the other.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been too low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

NO MONEY FOR BURIAL.

Young Widow of Husband Who Committed Suicide Helpless.

Durham Special. Wm. to Raleigh Post.

The remains of the late H. Wilton Norma, who committed suicide here yesterday afternoon by taking strychnine, were taken to Chase City, Va., this morning for interment. It was a particularly sad occurrence. The young man was well educated, refined and came of good family, but he had a weakness for whiskey. Recently he got in a bad way financially and then became desperate. He got on a protracted spree and bad matters became worse. He did not have money to pay his board bill and he became despondent, and while his mind was temporarily unbalanced he swallowed the deadly drug and ended his earthly career. He was a nephew of Rev. Mr. Bryan, who married Miss Freeland, of this city, instead of Rev. Mr. Norma, stated in the first report. Mr. Bryan is now in China and is the nearest of kin that he has living. Mrs. Norma did not have enough money to defray the funeral expenses and get the body and herself and children to Chase City, but Chief of Police Woodall went out among our people this morning and soon had about forty dollars. This was increased by about forty dollars raised by the boarders at the Roanoke Inn, where the deceased was boarding up to the time of his death. All our people feel deeply for the young wife who was perfectly devoted to him.

DR. WHARTON ARRESTED.

He is Charged With Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses.

New York, Aug. 4.—Rev. Henry M. Wharton, D. D., of Baltimore, was placed under arrest at Ocean City, N. J., today. Rev. Wharton is charged by Miss Somers, of Ocean City, with obtaining money under false pretenses. Dr. Wharton came to Ocean Grove at the close of the Spanish-American war and offered a home for destitute and orphan children. Miss Somers, it is said, offered a home for the purpose. The home was to be put in trust, but it is alleged that Dr. Wharton secretly had the property made over to himself.

Miss Somers claims she signed the agreement without taking the precaution to read the papers. It is further alleged that Dr. Wharton borrowed $5,000 on the property, but at his request the mortgage was never recorded. Later, it is claimed, he borrowed a further sum of $8,000 from A. W. Cooper, of Baltimore, using the property to effect it.

Dr. Wharton led a strenuous life in Baltimore. Coming here from Virginia in 1881, he assumed the pastorate of a small Baptist church on Lee street, this city, which he presently gave up to embark in the publication business. Meanwhile, Dr. Wharton was engaged actively in street evangelical work among fallen women and degraded men of the city, and formed many projects for their reform, and for the amelioration of the condition of the children of the streets and slums. Of these the most famous is the Whosoever Mission for Children in Dr. Wharton's native State, Virginia. A few years ago he organized the Brantley Mission Baptist church. Of this Dr. Wharton remained pastor until about a year ago, when he suddenly resigned and left the city. It was freely intimated at the time that his departure was largely due to financial troubles, but no suggestions of dishonesty were made against him here.

How the Gunners Go About It Along Chesapeake Shores.

There is fine wild goose hunting at Sharp's Island, Maryland. Messrs. John D. Sinclair and J. T. Higgins recently spent two nights there and made a good bag of geese and swans. Others have done as well. "Tenderfeet" could not stand the cold, but the veteran goose hunter does not mind zero weather.

A blind in the form of a pit is made in the sand on shore near where the geese and swans are known to rest and feed. White woolen blankets are spread in and around the blind to make it comfortable, and corn is strewn within thirty yards of it. At nightfall the hunters hide themselves in the pit, strapping up in white blankets which cannot be detected from the white sand of the beach by the water fowl. Absolute silence is maintained.

From far out on the bay comes the familiar "honk, honk" of the incoming flock, and the hunters get down low in the pit. The geese alight near the beach and soon are in shallow feeding water. The "watch goose," which is always a gander, and which never seems to eat or sleep, makes a reconnaissance in advance of the flock and finds the corn. If, after a close inspection of the surroundings, he is satisfied of safety, he calls the flock, and in the night, look as big as orange the signal to fire is given in pantomime by the leader of the hunters, and something happens when the No. 8 guns boom.

Some geese are killed outright, and those unhurt take to instant flight. As they rise another volley is poured into the flock. The dead and wounded birds are retrieved by trained Chesapeake Bay dogs, if the hunters themselves, who rush into the icy water, pursuing first the wounded fowls and afterwards picking up the dead ones. This ends the shooting from the blind that night.

At times there is a cold, tiresome, all-night wait with no results. No. 8 guns are used with the best ammunition. The shells are loaded with six or seven drams of powder and from two to three ounces of B. B. chilled shot.—Baltimore Sun.

PROVED HER OWNERSHIP.

"Posey, Old Boy," Recognized in a New Jersey Court.

This parrot did not ally itself with the Prohibitionists. It was totally lacking in any moral sense and not having any responsibility concerning a live of rectitude here in order to escape a warm reception hereafter. No, the bird was utterly and hopelessly immoral. Gratitude did not de menthe feathers, and that is why Meyer Posnek, of No. 141 Charleston street, Newark, N. J.

It would have pleased the immoral element of the community if the bird had made straightway for a church building and dealt forth homilies and platitudes from the front steps.

This was not the kind of a fowl. Nary! This bird wended its bow-legged, wabbly course straight for the nearest saloon. Jacob Hauffer was the president, secretary and treasurer of this thirteenth century, and the mark:

"Well, old boy, set 'em up; set 'em up!"

Hauffer held a cocktail glass by its dainty waist, and was about forming the crook in the elbow that put so many otherwise decent citizens on the

dum. Hauffer dropped the glass, which behaved as glasses ordinarily do on such occasions.

"Well, I'll be d—d!" muttered the visitor; "I'll take mine straight." Now, saloons are bad places to see green birds, animals or reptiles in different hues of the spectrum. The saloonkeeper was a little "leery" at first, but the uncanny fowl cocked his head on one side, allowing his shutter like eyelids to droop wisely, and the "barkeep" was won. He sent out and bought a new cage and installed the newcomer as assistant back of the bar. Here Poll rendered himself, or herself, invaluable. When the customers would slow up in their orders, and buyers would stagnate a few, the bird would shout:

"Wake up! What'll it be?" or something similar, and business would revive.

Posnek heard the bird's voice giving orders on Monday as he was passing, and, rushing into the saloon, he claimed the talkative fowl. Hauffer refused to yield the inmate of the cage and a fight ensued. The case was taken to court, and Judge Chalk remarked: "Well, we'll leave it to the bird. Who owns you?" "Posey, old boy," answered Poll, standing on one leg, with the other raised so as to form a 4. "Let's go 'n get a drink."

"That bird's yours, Posnek," said the Judge, "although it's the first time I ever took testimony without swearing the witness; but I am not sure that this witness appreciates the nature of an oath."

"Get out, you! Gimme beer!" yelled the parrot.

"I may be mistaken about the oath," said the Judge doubtfully, "and—"

"Get out you! Whose treat is it?" asked the bird, walking up and down the rail of the Judge's desk.

"Take the—I mean, take the bird away," said Court.

Poll gazed around the courtroom with a look of disdain. Noticing a Hebrew peddler standing in the line of prisoners, the bird's optic caught the colporteur's nasal projection. Poll rubbed one claw over his, or her, beak, took another look at the Hebrew and burst into uproarious laughter.

"Ha, ha, ha!" shrieked the bird, "he's got my nose; he, ha, ha, ha!"

And the parrot was hustled from the room. Not before, however, it had mastered the court proceedings.

"You're drunk, Posey, old boy," he shrieked, going down the street; "thirty days or $10."

"Posey, old boy," placed the parrot under his coat and made for home.

Poll was seen at Posnek's home and was in the dumps. The court experience had affected Poll. "Ten dollars or ten days," yelled the green pet with hysterical laughter.

"You would hit your wife, eh? Six months," and other sentences were all the bird would say. The old blithe invitation to take a drink was missing, and Polnek fears that Poll's life has been changed by the courtroom experience.—Philadelphia Times.

New York Mail and Express.

It need not be regarded as a novel revelation that there are anarchists in the United States, not that they are organized into groups whose chief purpose is to talk as crazily as its members think askew. In this great, free republic the intelligence of the main body of the population is so intensely centered upon the every-day work and the cheerful thrift that make substantial prosperity and domestic happiness that time and attention are only occasionally and temporarily diverted by the ravings of men or of women who are either ignored as harmless idiots or shunned as persons with whom contact is degrading.

But now and then some incident unusually offensive, or some event positively tragic, brings these enemies of society conspicuously before the public. The execution of the Chicago anarchists was an example of the power of the law, even in a land of free speech, to forbid that liberty of expression should degenerate into excitement to murder. Here in New York legal means were found to suppress a contemptible mauler of threats against order. Only recently two men, who planned a lecture tour in this country, seeking dollars because of their acquaintances with assassination, were turned away from this port.

But, though there may be no surprise at their presence, there will surely be keen indignation at the impudent and heartless rejoicing among the avowed anarchists of Paterson, N. J., where the slayer of King Humbert dwelt for a time, at the fatal success of his crime. Their boldness in publishing a periodical, bearing in cold type a title of anarchy; their fiendish exultation in the atrocious deed of Bresci; their holding meetings that must be classed as gatherings of sedition, and their open advocacy of the overthrow of all government, make it evident that the authorities of New Jersey are confronted by a stern duty to perform and by the serious task of finding a legal way to its performance.

The open apostles of anarchy never fail to restrict themselves to words. Vanity is their chief motive in courting notoriety. Their perverted minds bask equally in the detestation of honorable and healthy natures, and in the fatuous admiration of their dupes. But it is seldom these blatant curs actually leap at the throat of civilization. The assassins who strike to kill are those who have been crazed by their harangues. Those who thus play upon minds perverted by imaginary wrongs and preach assassination, are obviously criminals in intent.

An Arboreal Wedding.

There recently took place in this neighborhood a wedding which was as startling as any one could wish. It seems that the bride had peculiar notions about weddings, and she had made up her mind to have her marriage different from the ordinary ceremonial. There were to be no attendants except the maid of honor, the bride's sister, and at the time appointed the family congregated about a large, gnarled tree, the oldest growing on the country place where the affresco service was to take place. At the same time the bride and groom, maid of honor and clergyman came from the house, and when they reached the tree they climbed it and the ceremony was performed amid the foliage of the lower branches.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN AMERICAN GIRL.

She Defied Regulations of Queen Victoria's Court, But Gained Admission.

A delightful little story has only lately come to light of how a pretty and audacious San Francisco girl once defied the regulations of Queen Victoria's court. Along in the seventies Bonnie Nellie Chapman, daughter of William S. Chapman, the well-known mine owner, says the San Francisco Chronicle, found herself on the eve of her presentation to England's Queen. Now there are certain rules of high etiquette laid down for these occasions. Among the rest royalty prescribes the exact length of a train and the degree of exposure required of the arms and bust. But Nellie Chapman had ideas of her own on the latter subject, and when it came to the shaping of the gown she was to wear for the grand event the American girl had the height of her corsage arranged to suit her own ideas of what was decorous and appropriate. It was an extremely dainty gown of white satin, perfectly fitted to the slight and graceful figure, with chaste trimmings of tulle and garlands of white marguerites, diamonds and pearls giving it a touch of elegance, and above it all the fair republican face carried with truly regal spirit. But, alas! on the threshold of the drawing-room she was stopped by an imperious chamberlain, who loftily informed her that she could not go in, as her gown was not low enough in the neck. For one moment the spirited American girl was dismayed, then, with a scornful look at the courtier, she lifted her little gloved hands, and, giving both shoulders of the corsage an impetuous twitch, bared her dimpled shoulders, and with the defiant, "Now it will do," walked past the astonished gentleman-in-waiting. She afterward had her picture taken in the court dress which so nearly brought her to social grief.

A Literary Policeman.

The news of the distressing death of Charles Ashton, the "literary policeman," as he was called, will be received with genuine regret throughout the whole of Wales. Mr. Ashton was one of those patient plodders so numerous in North Wales where there is much less of the rush and stress of life than in the southern portion of the principality. A child of the Eisteddfod, he had published an historical work under its auspices. But the dream of his life was to produce a complete and authoritative bibliography of Welsh literature. Amid the picturesque solitudes of Dinas Mawddwy, where the policeman's life ought to be a happy one and the most heinous crime is the absence of the owner's name from a cart, Mr. Ashton toiled year in and year out upon his task, corresponding with scholars everywhere who were interested in the vast body of Welsh literature and were happy to help him with notes and suggestions.—Birmingham Post.

Oldest Tree in the World.

The town of Kos, the capital of the small Turkish island of that name lying off the coast of Asia Minor, possesses the oldest tree in the world. Under its shade Hippocrates inculcated his disciples in his methods and views concerning the healing art 2,000 years ago. Tradition carries the age of the tree back to the time of Aesculapius (of whom Hippocrates was a lineal descendant), which would add some 400 years to its age. A great part of the trunk is built round, and there is a fountain known as Hippocrates' Fountain. The circumference of the trunk is 30 feet, and there are two main lower branches, which are supported by masonry columns.

A Pennsylvania wife-beater has been released from jail on petition of his wife. The judge who ordered the release said that the man was getting too fat in jail, and that he ought to be working to support his family.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50 and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

THE WEATHER.

For North Carolina: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.
Highest temperature at Greensboro past twenty-four hours ending eight o'clock this morning 86, lowest 65. Highest temperature on Saturday last 85, lowest Saturday night 65.

AROUND TOWN.

A Variety of Brief Items Picked Up Here and There.

Rees & Bond are doing some neat sign work on the window in Clegg's bakery.

The Board of Aldermen will meet tonight. A policeman is to be elected to succeed the late John W. Cates.

The county commissioners were in session today. They spent the greater part of the day in settling with the registrars and poll holders of the late election.

Two negroes attempted to burglarize the house of Mr. R. S. McClamroch, on West Lee street, last night. They were frightened away by Mrs. McClamroch.

The concert by the Oxford orphans will take place in the court house tomorrow night. The admission is only 25 cents, and those who attend will be more than repaid.

A meeting in the interest of the co-operative missionary, industrial and educational movement among the colored people will be held in the A. M. E. (Bethel) church tonight. An address will be delivered by Rev. L. T. Christmas, general secretary and organizer.

The lawn party Thursday evening is not primarily a money-making institution. It takes the place of an excursion which was first contemplated by the Sunday schools interested. However, money is needed to defray expenses, and the refreshments are depended upon to secure it. Let everybody go.

The lawn party on Eckel's lawn Thursday night promises to be a great success. The cream will be furnished by Dughi, of Raleigh, whose reputation is too well known to require comment here. One dozen eight-foot balloons have been ordered and will be sent up during the evening. A good time is promised everyone.

Hog Pens Causing Complaint.

The prevalence of hog pens is causing complaint from various sections of the city. It is said that sickness is being caused by them. These germ breeders are a menace to the health of any community and are always objectionable to everybody except the owners of hogs. In most well regulated cities and towns hog pens are prohibited by law.

A New Fad.

People are always turning up with a new means of discerning one's character. Now it is from the "tread" of one's shoes, now from the shape of the fingers or the teeth, to say nothing, of course, of palmistry, graphology, and physiognomy. The very latest character-reader is the nasologist. He tests your taste in scent. You sniff half a dozen sweet odours, and whichever one pleases you best decides your character. The study of this new method ought to prove a pleasant little amusement to women; at bazaars it would assuredly prove a draw. Only, one fears that wily woman would soon learn that in public it is unwise to express a fancy for certain perfumes. One cannot help the possession of a nose of this or that shape, or alter the lines of one's hands, but is possible to keep one's tastes in sweet odours to one's self, and so to literally throw nasologists "off the scent."

Lord Tennyson, Governor of South Australia, has been describing himself at an agricultural show as a fortunate farmer. He said he had received, along with the Queen, the highest price for wool in the South of England. But the success of his farm depended, he declared, not on his wool, but on his wife. It was she who looked after the farm accounts and attended to the dairy.

Wives in Tanganyika are considered a luxury, and even in Zululand they cost from $150 to $800, but on the Tanganyika plateau one can be had for five or six goats. One goat equals 15 to 20 cents, therefore one wife equals $1.20.

The Emperor of Austria is supplied with a private newspaper, which he reads every day. This journal is made up of extracts, and the Emperor's strict orders are that nothing which concerns himself personally, whether it be disagreeable or not, shall be omitted.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other ailments. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.
